

They say that eating genetically engineered corn can make one's gut flora into a living pesticide factory. Most of the soybeans are genetically modified and can present similar problems. Is it any wonder our citizens are coming up with more health complaints as more genetically stuff is being thrown at us? Now even some farmed fish are genetically modified. Please, my own stomach isn't doing too well, give the citizens of this state a chance to try to be healthy by passing Genetically Modified Foods Labelling legislation!
